

I. P. College for Women is the first college to visit the VH section of National museum. VH students of the College visited this section on 14 January 2016 accompanied by College faculty. Our students were provided audible material and headphones so that they could hear brief description about each and every replica. They could touch them and could get information about them through the audible material. There were 21 different replicas displayed, from different times of history. It was a wonderful experience for both the teachers and the students.
