Welcome to iP College!

Welcome! As you embark on your new academic journey, it is with immense pleasure that I extend a warm welcome to you. This year, as we open our doors for the next generation of aspiring young women, it holds a special significance. We stand at a momentous milestone – the glorious centenary of Indraprastha College for Women, the first women's college of the esteemed University of Delhi.

A hundred years ago, in 1924, Indraprastha College for Women was born with a singular vision – to empower women through education. Over the decades, this vision has blossomed into a reality that we are incredibly proud of. We have nurtured countless women leaders, scholars, and change makers who have left their mark on every sphere of life. As we marked our centenary, and inaugurated a year-long celebration, the grand ceremony was graced by the esteemed presence of the Hon'ble Vice President of India, Shri Jagdeep Dhankhar ji. His presence was a testament to the college's remarkable contribution to women's education in the nation. Witnessing such a distinguished guest amidst the vibrant energy of our students and faculty was truly a defining moment.

Our commitment to academic excellence remains unwavering. Beyond academics, we foster a vibrant and holistic learning environment. Our active student societies and vibrant cultural scene provide you with avenues to explore your talents and interests.

Our commitment to sustainability extends beyond the classroom. The verdant grounds of Indraprastha College offer a refreshing respite from the bustling city. Lush green lawns, towering trees, and blooming flower beds create a tranquil atmosphere that fosters learning and reflection. Recently, the college also set up rainwater harvesting pits. The college campus is free of plastic pollution with Zero SUP Zone.

We invite you to explore the possibilities that await you at Indraprastha College for Women. This prospectus will provide you with detailed information about our programs, admissions process, and facilities. But remember, the essence of IP College goes beyond the printed page. It lies in the spirit of our community, the energy on campus, and the transformative power of education.

We look forward to welcoming you to Indraprastha College for Women and embarking on this exciting journey of learning and growth together.

Indraprastha's Empowered 100 Years

As you embrace the environs of Indraprastha College for Women, University of Delhi, you are now part of the rich canvas of a 100-year old women's College and a 100-year old University. You are now a member of both the history and the future of the oldest women's college of the University. The façade and the fauna that you see around stand as nurturing witnesses to innumerable batches of diverse young women from all walks of life, who had the character and courage to not only give shape to their individual aspirations but also strengthen the rich fabric of our country.

The College

The story of Indraprastha College for Women (IPCW) is a chronicle of the graceful and gutsy women of Bharat. From 1904 to 2024, we have evolved and reached this much-awaited and pristine juncture of our Centenary celebrations. What we see today is a milestone in the remarkable journey which began on 20 May 1904, when the Indraprastha Putri Pathshala welcomed its first batch of girls in a rented building in Gali Anar in Kinari Bazar locality of Chandni Chowk in Old Delhi.

In the same year, amidst the sacred chanting of Vedic hymns and the pristine fires of the holy havan, the school was shifted to the haveli donated by the late Lala Jagan Nath at Naiwara and renamed Indraprastha Hindu Kanya Shikshalaya. The Shikshalaya turned from a primary to a high school in 1917. Five years down the line, in 1922, the University of Delhi was established. And in May 1924, twenty years after the auspicious beginning of the Pathshala, we see the emergence of the Indraprastha Girls' Intermediate College.

Where we stand today, in this building with its lawns, fountains, French windows and angular corridors, is the Alipore House. It was on the auspicious day of 9 August 1938, that Indraprastha College got Alipore house. Her Excellency Lady Linlithgow was invited to inaugurate the College campus on 7 February 1939. Subsequently, in September 1945, the College was given a name by which it is now known, Indraprastha College for Women.

The Community

We have a layered history before us. There is a history of the institution, its founders, its architecture and its ethos. And then there is a parallel history of the nation within which IPCW took shape. The Quit India Movement (1942-45) and its build-up was a fertile ground for students to build political opinion and support the cause of freedom. If one looks at old student records, one finds not only Sucheta Kriplani (who took the Intermediate classes) but many others.

Some students who were in college during 1941 till 1944 participated in underground activities, met freedom fighters, and were imprisoned both in the Delhi and Lahore Jail for hoisting the national flag after removing the Union Jack. The students boycotted foreign goods enthusiastically, set them on fire, and chanted slogans. They were influenced by the Indian National Army and the fervour for independence was so high that in 1945, in the absence of local conveyance, a group of girls decided to walk from Civil Lines to Ramlila Maidan, where they were lucky enough to see and to listen to Sardar Patel and Aruna Asaf Ali, among a few others. The political participation and desire for freedom was high among the women-students at IPCW, even as they strived to balance their studies with their contribution to the cause of Independence.

The Century

The educational landscape of Bharat has evolved over time. New times brought in newer dimensions and developments. In 2002, the College building was declared a heritage building by the Government of the National Capital Territory of India. In 2004, the foundation stone was laid for the second hostel of the college, called the Indraprastha Hostel.

As a tribute to the rich and layered history of this institution, the eve of International Women's Day on 8 March 2006 witnessed the inauguration of the College Museum and Archives. New classrooms for facilitating the teaching-learning activities of the college were inaugurated in 2016 as New Academic Block, and in 2019 as the New Extension Block.

IPCW has an enrolment of approximately 3500 students in its Undergraduate and Postgraduate programs. Following the mandate of National Education Policy NEP 2020, the College continues to offer a wide range of courses which promote interdisciplinary studies. The College has to its credit a unique, one-of-a-kind course in the University of Delhi, the self-financed B.A. (Honours) in Multi Media and Mass Communication.

The College is 100% barrier free and has an 'Under One Roof' Enabling Unit (EU) and Equal Opportunity Cell (EOC). Apart from a proactive financial aid policy, it organizes courses in ICT skills for Economically Weaker Sections (EWS), and skill training courses for Persons with Benchmark Disability (PwBD).

The College has two Student Residences to accommodate 450 students, the 170 seater Indraprastha College Women's Student Residences and the Kalavati Gupta Student Residences (KG) which has total number of 280 seats.

In addition to this sustained growth and prosperity of the institution, Indraprastha College for Women boasts of reviving and renewing its very own NCC Girls' Unit in 2024.

The College has an active Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) and submits its Annual Quality Assurance Report (AQAR), regularly to the accreditation body. It was accredited with Grade A+.

The Consciousness for Conservation

Environment consciousness is a core agenda of the College and its heritage campus serves as a laboratory for both observation and practice. The College has a dense green cover and its biodiversity is phenomenal.

Efforts towards sustainable living and green-campus include-Student-led tree census, bird census, butterfly count, Waste Management Program (leaves for compost, food waste for manure), E-waste Disposal Unit, Rainwater Harvesting (Nine rainwater harvesting pits) and Solar powered lighting on campus.

The human and animal voices intermingle on campus, with a visible presence of dogs, cats, peacocks, kites, varieties of migratory birds and rescued birds and animals on campus. They are looked after by the College community.

100 Year
Celebrations*

You will interact with young women from all parts of India and the world. There are over 200+ faculty, spread across 18 Departments.

Why IP?

Undergraduate life at IP is a kaleidoscope of a brilliant past, an exciting present, and a formidable future. You are part of the legacy of women who were firsts in whatever they did: from freedom fighters to solo pilots, from mountaineers to the most precious faces in Indian media, from musicians to scientists, from bureaucrats to filmmakers. IP has been home to entrepreneurial young women: women with spades who dug and designed the College swimming pool, women who tore down the Union Jack and unfurled the Indian Flag, women who made each space of the campus a living classroom. Each nook and corner of the College is humming with history.

Your classrooms and corridors are not yours alone. You share them with the echoes of bright-eyed women who have been walking in and out of the College gateways since 1924.

Undergraduate Curriculum Framework

UGCf-2022

The National Education Policy (NEP-2020) aims to modernize India's higher education system by emphasizing a more holistic, skill-based approach. Undergraduate Curriculum Framework - 2022 outlines these changes for undergraduate programs, incorporating research, innovation, apprenticeships, social outreach, and entrepreneurship alongside traditional academics.

Here at Indraprastha College for Women, as a constituent college of the University of Delhi, we are actively implementing the NEP guidelines and structures outlined in the UGCF - 2022. As the University revises its curriculum per as NEP-2020 and UGCF-2022, the college takes steps to encompass a wider range of subjects, provide opportunities for practical learning that leverages both traditional Indian knowledge systems and contemporary advancements, and encourage student participation in research projects and social initiatives. We are committed to fostering a dynamic learning environment that equips our students with the skills and knowledge they need to succeed in the 21st century. This includes a strong focus on critical thinking, problem-solving, and effective communication – all of which are essential for navigating the complexities of the modern world. By embracing the NEP, Indraprastha College for Women is ensuring that our young women graduate not just as scholars, but also as well-rounded individuals prepared to make a positive impact on society.

NEP-2020 and its corresponding framework, UGCF-2022, represent a significant shift towards a more balanced approach to higher education in India. This approach strives to bridge the gap between tradition and modernity by integrating time-tested knowledge with the demands of the 21st century. Here at Indraprastha College for Women, our values have always reflected this very philosophy. We recognize the importance of a strong foundation in core disciplines while simultaneously fostering innovation, critical thinking, and practical skills. The NEP and UGCF 2022 provide a framework that perfectly complements our existing commitment to holistic education. Through the implementation of these guidelines, we can empower our students to become not just experts in their chosen fields, but also adaptable and forward-thinking individuals who can confidently navigate the confluence of Indian knowledge traditions and a rapidly evolving world.
