FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

Thank you for choosing Indraprastha College for Women and congratulations on making the mark!

In its 94th year now, the College has been accredited with Grade 'A' by NAAC. The College in the Centenary Decade (2014-2024), has grand plans spread over the next few years as it sets its sights on celebrating 100 years of its existence. It has created four research and learning centres; the Museum and Archives Learning Resource Centre and the Translation and Translation Studies Centre, the Centre for Earth Studies and the Centre for Interdisciplinary Studies. This year it has added two more: the Sanskrit Studies and Research Centre and a unique Music Archives and Listening Room. More and more students have launched research projects under the Centenary Decade Undergraduate Research Grant, announced by the College, the only one of its kind at undergraduate levels in the University, to support original and innovative ideas of undergraduate students. The College has already had four sessions of the decade-long Round Table Conference on Gandhi, which began in 2014 and is envisioned to culminate in an international symposium on Gandhi to mark the centenary of the College. Special exhibitions, lectures, workshops and outreach programs are being organized for this significant event in the life of the College. All these moments are planned keeping you, our students in mind, to enable you to have the best three years of your life here.

In Delhi, families that have traditionally educated women, have passed the portals of this College, as the pioneering institution of higher education for women. Our swimming pool built in 1956, when it was unthinkable for our girls to swim in public institutions, has celebrated its 60th year. The almost 65 year old Kalavati Gupta Hostel on the College campus is under renovation and will open in July 2017. This year the College is glad to offer seats to newly admitted students in both the hostels.

The College with its infrastructure and facilities is at your disposal to help you grow and develop, to enable yourselves and become independent and confident young women who can take on the world on their terms. Its accomplished faculty and friendly support staff will encourage you to claim the College as your special world, one that you will treasure and carry with you always. IP College is about you! You are at the centre of its vision: a vision which upholds the values of equality and harmony, of diversity and inclusion, of rationality and respect, of kindness and compassion. You have just embarked on this journey of discovery and revelation, a journey that is as much about you as it is about the larger world that you inhabit. Here in IP, embraced by its natural beauty, nurtured by its ideals of women's emancipation and empowerment, you will find the space where you can explore, express, and realize yourself.

Come, let us walk that exciting path together!

The Indraprastha College for Women was founded in 1924 and is the oldest women's college of the University of Delhi. It began with three students, in a room on the second floor of an old, now heritage, mansion housing the Indraprastha Girls' Senior Secondary School, in Chhipiwara in the Jama Masjid area of Chandni Chowk, in the walled city of Old Delhi. Degree courses were introduced in 1930s, and in 1938 the University recognized Indraprastha College as a degree college. After some years, the College moved to Chandrawali Bhawan in the Civil Lines, and was moved again to 'Alipore House' at Alipur Road (now Sham Nath Marg) to the office-cum-residence of the British Commander-in-Chief in 1938, where it exists until today.

The parent school and the College both grew out of the efforts of a group of philanthropists associated with the Theosophical Society of India. They were inspired by Mrs. Annie Besant, also a theosophist, who believed in and promoted education for women in North India, at a time when women were confined to the home and realized their destiny in marriage and motherhood. The vision of the College intensified over the decades, and remains focused on the holistic development and empowerment of women.

The College has intersected the National Movement, the Education Reforms Movement, and the Women's Movement, and is itself a movement today. It has a glorious tradition of academics and service which has only grown over the years. Housed in a beautiful building, on a green campus spread over 14.5 acres, the College building was accorded heritage status in 2002. The College is a milestone in the heritage walk of colonial Delhi. As the College marches towards its centenary, it has added to its academic and infrastructural resources, always mindful of its core vision to empower and mainstream the marginalized.

Vision

The Vision of the College is to educate, enable and empower young women, emphasizing the need to mainstream the marginalized and weaker sections among them, to ensure justice and equity in society.

Mission

The Mission is to steer the education it offers not only to lead to the pragmatic goal of employability, but also to build a life of the mind and sensitize and orient its students to service of the community, in the quest for a better life for society and the world that we inhabit. The College endeavors to nurture confident and responsible citizens who will uphold the values enshrined in the motto of the College 'Truth, Love, Knowledge, Service'. To this end the College's mission statement is set out as definite tasks which define the College's distinctive characteristics in terms of addressing, the students it seeks to serve, the institutions traditions and value orientations, the needs of society and its course for the future. The Mission is dynamic and its tasks are defined and periodically reviewed to meet the challenges and opportunities of changing times.

Objectives

The Objectives of the College are stated in the tasks of the Mission. The College seeks to inculcate through its programs :

- ❖ belief in self as a woman (through enabling strategies and empowerment as women).
- ❖ awareness of history, heritage and environment (through its own location within these and its links with global concerns and issues)

Museum and Archives Learning Resource Centre

The College archives was expanded into a museum and learning resource centre and relocated in a modern display gallery in 2015. Currently, the Archives cover the period 1924-2006 with plans for extension in 2017-18. The major parts of its holdings have been donated by the late Chairman, Governing Body, Shri Narain Prasad. The Museum and Archives is well-stocked and holds many fascinating and rare documents related to the history of the College which overlaps with the history of the city of Delhi, the women's education movement and the Freedom Movement. Interesting moments and events in the life of the College are on display in photographs and journals. These have been restored and digitized to be available for visitors to see and for study by interested scholars. The Centre is currently collaborating on a research project by scholars of Sydney University. It is part of the prestigious Sahapedia heritage project. The Museum and Archives along with the College, are also a popular stop for the Delhi Heritage Walk.

Translation and Translation Studies Centre

The Translation and Translation Studies Centre was set up in 2015. Translation as an activity is promoted by the College to stimulate student interest and engagement with both language and cultural diversity, particularly in India. The College identified translation and translation studies in India as an emerging area which requires academic engagement and keen scholarship. It views translation as an area with potential also for skill development and employability, apart from enhancing language skills for various kinds of academic tasks and research. The Centre's activity aims at giving impetus to research and independent learning. It has successfully cut across departments to evoke wide ranging student participation. The student journal of translation - 'CODE' is produced annually by the Centre. The Centre organizes lively activities around language throughout the year. Scholars and practitioners are invited to deliver talks at the Centre. A certificate course on 'Editing and Publishing' (Bilingual) is also offered by the Centre, which is very popular with students.

Chair: Dr. Babli Moitra Saraf

Co-ordinators: Dr. Vinita Sinha & Dr. Rekha Sethi

Centre for Earth Studies

The Centre for Earth Studies was launched in 2016. It encourages student research and project-oriented learning on environment related issues for sustainable development. The specific goal and objective is to inculcate awareness and preparedness among the college community to confront imminent climactic developments in a multi-pronged approach. The themes for 2016 were Disaster Management with special focus on Earthquake in Delhi and Bird life in the College. To take forward this theme, the Centre launched an Add-On Certificate Course on 'Disaster Risk-Preparedness: Knowledge For Life'. The College also wishes to develop a task force which is trained mentally and technically to respond to disaster. The Centre brings out a peer-reviewed, biannual journal on issues related to sustainable development and environment consciousness, the Journal of Innovation for Inclusive Development (JIID). The Centre held workshops, talks and seminars on a wide variety of issues impacting life on planet Earth. A Tree Census Report of Indraprastha College was published in April 2017. The innovative project GREEN LAB by the College ECO Club is a collaborative, innovative project which explores organic growth of vegetables in small urban spaces. Students are encouraged to propose other focus areas.

Chair: Dr. Babli Moitra Saraf

Centre for Interdisciplinary Studies

The importance of a comprehensive understanding of the human condition and our location within it cannot be underestimated in higher education. The interrelatedness of academic disciplines and the ways in which they impact on each other serve to enhance and deepen not only our understanding of diverse disciplines, but also promote a holistic assessment of realities surrounding us. At the same time, the methodologies of specific disciplines are understood along with their respective objects of study. The Centre for Interdisciplinary Studies established in 2016, hopes to instill in students the academic curiosity necessary to understand social phenomena and engage with these in an analytical and critical way. The Centre encourages students to undertake research and projects which enable the interplay of disciplines. It also organizes seminars, conferences and talks by scholars and students. A seminar series 'Dilli: Perspectives on Delhi' and an outreach research project 'HUM SAB' with migrant labour on College campus, has been launched by the Centre. Very specifically, the Centre provides a forum where young scholars from various universities in Delhi may be invited on a regular basis to present their work-in progress, to stimulate the minds of our students and enable a lively dialogue with their peers.

Chair: Dr. Babli Moitra Saraf
Co-ordinator : Dr. Rashmi Pant

Sanskrit Studies and Research Centre

The Sanskrit Studies and Research Centre launched in 2017 is envisioned to promote the study of the Sanskrit language as an invaluable heritage which is a key to unlock the vast corpus of knowledge it treasures. It proposes to focus on the interface of Sanskrit with other disciplines like Linguistics, History, Literature, Philosophy, Mathematics and so on. It is an off-shoot of the Translation and Translations Studies Centre and rests upon the College's collection of rare books in Sanskrit. The Centre proposes to promote the acquisition of language skills along with the phonetics and phonology of Sanskrit. It will encourage translation from Sanskrit into other Indian and foreign languages. It will organize activities to familiarize and popularize Sanskrit among the youth in particular. It will network with all the Learning and Resource Centres of the College in activities that have the possibility to highlight the contribution of Sanskrit language and writings in it. It will explore collaboration with like-minded academic and cultural bodies to establish linkages to carry the Centre forward.

Music Archives and Listening Room (Baithak)

The importance of archiving and mapping our musical heritage has been ignored in our education system. The Music Archives and Listening Room is a unique project initiated in 2017, which encourages the solitary pursuit of “listening” to music and discovering its making in all its nuances. The Archives are a collection developed through donations from music lovers and practitioners of Indian Classical Music, in its various manifestations and embodiments. Here we will find rare recordings, information and catalogues. The Music Archives also proposes to translate treatises on music written in Indian languages to make them available to a wider public. The College's studio and recording room will make it possible to record interviews and performances, whenever the opportunity arises and also to archive these digitally. The project proposes to arouse and disseminate the appreciation of our musical heritage and to develop an understanding of it from an informed position.
