

Thought for the day

When we thought we were all powerful
And did exactly as we pleased
When we treated the earth with contempt
A virus brought us to our knees

When we prided ourselves on social media
With photos of places we roamed
A microscopic virus decided
To bind our feet and keep us home

When the whole world seemed divided
And no one could see eye to eye
We needed a tiny virus
To show where our connection lies

We need to wash not just our hands
We need to cleanse our thoughts
We need to elevate humanity
Before the virus is fought..
