iSAFE LAUNCH EVENT

IIT Delhi launched the iSAFE campaign for ensuring Road Safety on Saturday, 7th September 2019. Three volunteers participated in it. It aimed at the contributions youth could make to help the government to make Indian roads safer. The program began with the introduction about the need for sensitizing people for road safety. The 3 pillars of the campaign are Technology, Unified Approach and Youth. With help of advancement in technology, the IITians have created an Automatic Accident Detector and a Crash Analysis Data Provider Device.. The campaign is being spread in 5000+ colleges and schools to promote a Unified Approach towards the issue. The youth is being targeted by providing First Responders Training and Defensive Driving Training since majority of the population of our country is shared by the youth.

The key areas of work in the campaign are Pre-emergency and Prevention, Reducing the Impact of Crash and Post-emergency measures. Sixty two innovative implementations were put forward by students of IIT Delhi to ensure road safely and all of them were widely accepted nationally. The campaign has been associated with 6 ministries of India and has got a tender worth 8 crores passed by the government for the cause.

Following the introduction was a panel discussion by various directors of the campaign. They shared different measures to be taken by the youth to ensure road safety in our country. The launch was attended by students from 12 cities across the country with great vigour and enthusiasm. The campaign was initiated by two IIT students and was then launched by Nitin Gadkari, Union Minister for road and transport affairs and now has more than 40,000 students working towards the goal. The campaign has reached to more than 3 million people and 28 cities across India. The program ended with the launch of the trophy by the panel members which would be won by any school or college from India for its contribution towards the aim of the campaign.

REPORT On NSS DAY 2019-20

On 24th September, 2019, the NSS unit of Indraprastha College for Women celebrated its 50th years of service. The theme of the 50th NSS day was "Swachhta hi Sewa" with the objective of spreading awareness among the students about the need for cleanliness and the harmful effect of the use of plastics. The event started with NSS Anthem which was followed by an incredible performance by the members of the Indian Music Society of IPCW which was followed by a documentary screening on the bad effect of using plastics.

The P. O. of our NSS unit addressed the volunteers by giving a brief account of the number of events conducted by NSS IPCW in the year 2018-19 and briefed the students about the upcoming events and encouraged them to reduce the usage of plastics. The successful volunteers who have completed 240 hours and 120 hours in the previous year were felicitated with a certificate. The Core team for the year 2019-20 was introduced to the audience. This was followed by a wonderful song by the visually impaired students of IPCW

Later, a quiz was conducted on the life of Mahatma Gandhi which was hosted by the president of NSS which witnessed a great participation from the audience. Various cultural events (poetry, dance, and songs) brought justice to the theme and also made the occasion more enjoyable. A bird's eye view of the previous year activity was presented to the audience through a PPT. It was followed by a movie screening, viz., " Bag it" which focussed on the adverse effects of plastic and suggested the ways through which the society can resolve the menace created by the plastic in the environment.

The event ended with a Padyatra, with the purpose of revisiting the Dhandi march undertaken by Gandhiji and to remind them to follow the path shown by Mahatma Gandhi. Around seventy volunteers participated in it with slogans and play cards. Here are some glimpses of the event:

NSS ENROLLMENT WORKSHOP

Report

On the 17th of October, NSS organised diary enrollment workshop in Seminar room. The workshop was conducted specifically for the first year NSS volunteers, though the second year NSS volunteers were allowed too. The main aim of the workshop was to make the volunteers aware of the nitty gritty of filling NSS diary.

Diary maintenance is an integral part of NSS. All the volunteers are required to maintain their diary and update it for every event. Thus, the workshop was essentially for this purpose. The office bearers spearheaded the workshop and helped the students fill their diary. Hours distribution for EOC, E- Waste collection drive, SwachhtaPakhwara, and various other events, were announced by the office bearers. Followed by a briefing about the structure of the diary i.e. division of odd-even semester and college and ministerial activities. The students were made to fill their odd semester diary sheet. Later, the second year NSS volunteers, too, helped the first years in diary filling and attended them individually.

The workshop was successfully conducted and witnessed a gathering of 95 NSS members. The students were equipped with a basic understanding of the structure of diary. The event terminated with the collection of the filled diaries.

E- campaigning on NSS Instagram page and through WhatsApp

NSS under NidaanPakhwada tried to create awareness about waste segregation and harmful impacts of non- compliance to the segregation method. In order to reach and impact a larger audience, NSS circulated posters and pictures of waste segregation. Posters were shared on our Instagram page with a motive to increase visibility of our initiative and to reach out to different colleges and universities. WhatsApp, too was used excessively to give reminders and update about our initiative. Evidently, social media proved a great medium to create awareness about our initiative and imparting an impetus to our cause.

Classroom campaigning and awareness around the college

NSS volunteers spread awareness about the hazardous impact of not practicing proper waste segregation method at homes and in college and other public spaces. Personal interaction was sought to indulge the people with this initiative. NSS volunteers roamed in very corner of the college and interacted with students from different departments. Students, too, showed interest in our initiative and sought their allegiance.

NSS volunteers advocated the abolition of single use plastic, they encouraged the students to use sustainable products. Emphasis was laid on the practice of waste segregation and identifying the correct dustbins for different waste materials.

Volunteers involved:

There were total twelve volunteers who campaigned in the college campus. The volunteers divided the entire college campus into twelve parts i.e. one division to be covered by one volunteer.

Problem faced:

- Lack of willingness to hear about the initiative
- Despite of campaigning during collection drive against e-waste, a good turn up was not seen

Movie Screening

A movie screening was organised by NSS under the NidaanPakhwada on October 24, 2019 in old seminar room of the college. The event started at 2.30 pm and was extended till 3.30 pm. The topic of the event was 'hazardous impact of Plastic'.

The intended idea of the event was to create awareness against the use of single use Plastic. Plastic contributes to the maximum amount of waste by humans. Through this movie screening we hoped to contribute in mitigating the negative impacts of Plastic on human and animal health. A short movie based on the negative impact of Plastic was screened. The movie showed the hazardous effect of Plastic on sea animals. Small animals get captured in the plastic bag and die. The movie sent a chill to the audience present in the hall. The movie also laid emphasis on the use of viable alternatives easily and cheaply available in the market. The movie laid a ground for serious introspection by the students.

The event was successful in floating new ideas on containing the menace of Plastic and reducing our individual plastic footprint.

Photography competition

A Photography competition was conducted by NSS under NidaanPakhwada. It was open to all the students of different department. The students were asked to send their entries to the official mail of NSS IPCW. Phone photography was also allowed. The theme for the competition was Waste Management. The competition was open only for the students of Indraprastha College for Women.

The theme was chosen as to incorporate every initiative under NidaanPakhwada. The students were encouraged to be creative and real. The entries sent showed a stark reality of people ignoring basic waste segregation method. Total 20 entries were received by NSS. The winner of the competition was Surabhi (1 year ,BMMMC). she received a certificate of appreciation and her entry was featured on NSS IPCW official Instagram and Facebook handle.

Waste collection drive in college and hostel

NSS volunteers under NidaanPakhwada initiated a waste collection drive in college and hostel. In the college, NSS volunteers spread awareness about the correct usage of dustbin and encouraged students to practice waste segregation at the source. Items collected were plastic bottle, pen caps, straws, Chip's packets and chocolate wrappers. The item collected were thoroughly segregated and deposited in correct dustbins in the college.

In hostel, NSS volunteers went to every room and collected plastic and reusable waste. Items collected were newspaper, wrappers, used notebooks and paper. Hostellers were impressed with our initiative and suggested regular collection drive.

Volunteers involved:

There were total eight volunteers who participated in the collection drive. Four volunteers were given charge of KalawatiGupta Hostel and two-two volunteers were assigned for I.P. hostel and college campus.

Pictures of item collected in:

1. I.P. Hostel

2. K.G. Hostel

3.College

Response:

- Hostel students were impressed by our initiative and showed full-fledged support to our waste collection drive.
- Hostellers suggested for conduction of such drives regularly.
- Plastic wrappers and bottles were collected and dumped in proper dustbin.

NidaanPakhwada: Day 8

Date: 31st October, 2019

Awareness about waste management in slum

NSS volunteers under NidaanPakhwada spread awareness about waste management and segregation techniques in its two adopted slums in Khyber Pass and Defence Colony. Volunteers interacted with the people residing in the slum and encouraged them to practice segregation at the source. Children, too were encouraged not to throw waste here and there, instead use dustbins.

The condition in the slum was very pathetic, but efforts were made to undo the mess. NSS volunteers made the people aware about the hazardous impact of not practicing waste segregation on environment, and eventually on them. Through this awareness campaign we hoped to inspire them to take active steps in this direction and provide a healthy future to their children.

Volunteers involved:

Two volunteers were given the responsibility of spreading awareness in the mentioned slums.

Some insight from the awareness drive:

Response:

- Young children joined our campaign
- Adults were apprehensive about our initiative
- Lack of knowledge about waste management
- Lack of positive attitude of the people living in the slum

So, we have to think how can we make it a more grounded project so that every social group considers this.

NidaanPakhwada: Day 9

Date: 1st November, 2019

Quiz on Indian system of Waste Management

NSS under NidaanPakhwada organised an online quiz on 1st November, 2019. NSS official Instagram and Facebook handle was used for the smooth conduction of the event.

Quiz questions ranged from early practicing of waste management to contemporary practice of waste management in India. The quiz tested the fundamental knowledge of the students. It was aimed to make the students aware about the various waste management technique.

Around 45 students participated in it and the winner of the quiz was Kavita Chaudhary (3rd Year BA Program) who got a score of 7 out of 8.

Resposes:

Out of the total 45 respondents, majority of them scored above average, yet many students failed in the questions related to waste segregation. This shows that in spite of knowing the negative impacts of E-waste and practises of improper waste management, students hardly pay attention to the initiation, which was evident during E-waste collection drive as well.

NidaanPakhwada: Day 10

Date: 5th November, 2019

Awareness Skit by NSS volunteers

On 5th November,2019, members of the NSS cadre of Indraprastha College for Women,in collaboration with Centre for Earth Studies, under Project Nidaan,organised a skit- 'Merashheersaaf ho,aurusmemerabhihaath ho' (My city should stay clean,and I too should contribute to its cleanliness). The skit was held in the afternoon hours,at 2.30PMin the student activity area.

The skit was about people facing problems in their daily lives because of improper waste management systems. Chintu (the protagonist) was adamant on making the city cleaner by himself. He thought that all he needed to do was take a broom and start cleaning the streets and roads of the city, in order to make them disease and germ free.By the end of the play,he realised that contribution to the cause of a clean and healthy neighbourhoodshould be made by all, that is necessary to achieve the goal.He decides to make people living close to his residence aware of the effects and hazards of living in a filthy environment and the benefits of living in a clean one.He also decides to call for a tree plantation campaign,and make people aware of the dangers and the fear of a tree-less future. The members used many popular Bollywood songs, with changed lyrics,which aimed at highlighting the importance of a clean neighbourhood. The skit also highlighted the importance of team work,team spirit and community activity. Later on,the members also had an interactive session with the crowd,who were all students and faculty of the college.

Volunteers involved:

Total five students participated in the skit, with one protagonist-a boy, named Chintu, his parents, and two narrators.

Response:

- Students turned up in good number for the event
- Students enjoyed the skit, and gave valuable inputs after the skit.
- Skit managed a good turn up as opposed to the movie screening and open mic.

Conclusion

Two-weeklong event was actively participated by NSS volunteers. They tried to create awareness about waste management through interaction and e-campaigning. People showed enthusiasm in the initiative, and gave valuable suggestions. However, when it came to implementation people failed to live by their words.

Many students still not practice waste segregation and management, and use wrong dustbins to throw their wastes. Regular reminders are required to ensure their participation in the initiative. Many students try to avoid interactive session on topic such as e-waste or Plastic. But inspite of this people are gradually accepting the alternatives suggested by our volunteers.

Many students have abandoned the use of plastic bag and bottles and instead use jute bags and metal bottles. There is a change of perception because of this initiative. A conversation has started around proper waste management and many students have volunteered for the same. Students are optimistic for a change and have pledged their allegiance to our cause. This paradigm shift has been possible through the tireless devotion of the volunteers and initiation of NīdaanPakhwada. NSS volunteers are still striving to change people's attitude and improve the waste management of our country.

Alternatives and suggestions proposed by students:

- Jute bag instead of plastic bag
- Glasses instead of plastic bottles
- Metal straw instead of plastic straw
- Not using plastic files for submission of assignment
- Menstrual cups instead of regular sanitary napkins

E-WASTE COLLECTION DRIVE

Report

On 6th November 2019, NSS unit of Indraprastha College for Women in collaboration with Centre for Earth Studies under the "Project Nidaan" organised an E-waste Collection Drive which was a call to the students, teachers, non teaching staffs and the public to bring their useless earphones, mobile phones, cables and other electronic wastes. A campaigning for the same was done by the volunteers a day before, that is, on 5th November 2019. The volunteers visited each and every classroom, department room, library as well as several other places. Enthusiastic and cooperative attitude was shown by the people towards the cause.

The drive was organised for 4 hours from 10:30 AM to 2:30 PM in the college pavilion.

It witnessed good participation of the public. People came up with their e-wastes which were cautiously checked by the volunteers and were then properly kept in the assigned dustbins, which were further sent for its proper disposal. About 16 items were collected which included chargers, earphones, cables, headphones.

The drive helped in disposing the e-waste collectively. It helped in preventing the people from throwing these sorts of harmful waste here and there and also helped in educating them about the needs and ways of proper disposal of such wastes.

CELEBRATION OF FESTIVE MELA AND CHILDREN'S DAY

Report

On the 23rd of October, the NSS unit of IPCW participated in the “Festivals’ Mela” organised by the Students Union of our College, by putting up a stall for food and games. It witnessed enthusiastic participation from the students and the event spread a joyous festival vibe.

NSS IPCW had set up the stall with a vision to donate the profit from the stall for some social cause. NSS managed to collect a decent amount at the Festivals' Mela. It was decided to use that money to donate to the children living in the adopted slum of NSS.

With the approval of the Principal, the amount was donated to the children from Kyber Pass and Defence Colony on 14th November, 2019. The office bearers and the NSS outreach volunteers celebrated the Children’s Day with the children from the adopted slum by distributing sweets and gifts. Around 60 children were identified from both the adopted slum and each child received a pack of useful stationery and a jute bag. They were happy to receive gifts and promised to use them for their studies.

It was a soothing and satisfying experience for the volunteers. The experience validated the motto of NSS, that is, ‘Not me but you.’

Total hours- 80 (40×2 hours)

Volunteers record the notes and chapter wise content of the students with special abilities-by reading it out loud-in their recording equipment. Volunteers with good speaking and understanding of the subject are encouraged to participate in this activity. Alike internal writing, medium of recording varies. Volunteers get NSS hours but are not provided any class waivers for this and are asked to come during their free slots in college.

3. Assignment writing

Total no of assignment- 37(approx.)

Total no of volunteers: -37 (approx.)

Total hours-185(37×5hours)

In Assignment Writing volunteers make their assignments as per the instructions of the VC students. Mostly, they provide the required reading material but sometimes volunteers guide them in their research for the materials and assist them in the presentation and completion of the assignment. Volunteers make these assignments at their home or during their free slots during the academic engagements in the college. The volunteers gain NSS hours for their assistance.

4. Enabling unit assistance (2:30-4:00)

Total no of days- 60 (approx.)

Total no of volunteers- 60 (approx.)

Total hours- 90 (60×1.5hours)

In the Enabling Unit, assistance volunteers go to the EOC-EU and perform tasks according to VC students' requirements. They work there from 2.30pm in the afternoon to 4.00pm in the evening. Volunteers are sought for various tasks, like making résumé, completing notes etc. Time contributed by the volunteers may fluctuate according to VC student's needs.

5. Events

NSS Volunteers also provide assistance to the VC students to help them conduct or participate in different college and inter-college events. Volunteers help the students by ensuring safe commutation between different venues. On stage assistance including anchoring, stage setting, props arrangement etc., are also provided by NSS volunteers.

NSS- EOCEvents

- Electronic Verification Programme

Electronic Verification Program was conducted on 21st and 23rd September, 2019, for the visually challenged students of EOC. They were also helped to open an account through NVSP and verify theirs and their parents' electoral details. A total of 10 NSS volunteers assisted them.

Apart from these events, all NSS Events encourage participation from the EOC.

- The EOC students prepared an act on NSS DAY, conducted on 24th September, 2019.
- EOC students attended the Anemia Health Check-up, conducted on 26th September, 2019.
- They also attended the Oral Health Check-up camp, conducted on 4th November, 2019.

EOC aims to provide equal access to resources for the differently abled and creates an empowering environment for them to get support in terms of infrastructure and academics. NSS provide assistance in the aforementioned activities and help them in their cause. NSS volunteers have relentlessly engaged with EOC and help them to create a conducive environment for their development.

Out Reach Activities in NSS Adopted Slum – July to December 2019

The NSS volunteers are actively involved in the Project NOOR, the Community Outreach Programme of our College. The project believes that education plays a significant role in empowering society and securing a rightful place for everyone. Apart from imparting education, the Project continues to in still virtues of equality and fraternity by eliminating social evils such as discrimination on the basis of religion, caste, gender, etc among children.

As a part of this project around twenty one NSS volunteers had worked in the Vidhan Sabha Area and Khyber Pass, which are the adopted slums of the NSS, during this odd semester session. The students worked from 2.50pm to 4.50 pm on all seven days in the week, in the adopted slums.

VIDHAN SABHA AREA

Around ten volunteers went regularly to teach 30 children of this community. The children were taught various subjects, as per their needs. The volunteer also taught lessons on moral education to the children. More focus was put on providing attention to the individual needs of the children. It was realized that to sensitize people towards different social issues, it is difficult to conduct a single workshop for all age groups.

KHYBER PASS

This semester, around eleven volunteers associated with the project were engaged in the Khyber Pass area, with a total of 40 kids, and taught them with utmost passion and interest. Special emphasis was also laid on inculcating moral values in the students. Apart from academics, the volunteers tried to build healthy relations among the children by trying to eliminate social evils such as discrimination on the basis of religion, caste, gender etc. Volunteers also took special measures to build trust on the field. It was ensured that there is one to one interaction with parents and the community on a regular basis. Special emphasis was also laid on adult literacy classes and curriculum designing.
