NIDAN PAKHWADA

REPORT

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 1-2

Date: 1st and 2nd January 2020

Monitoring and team formation

The Commerce Department under Nidaan Pakhwada held a meeting to interact with its volunteers and discuss the project in detail. Teams were divided on the basis of the work for a smoother functioning.

The volunteers made aware of waste disposal and its segregation for a better understanding and a more effective functioning of the program.

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 3-4

Date: 3rd and 4th January 2020

Monitoring and awareness

Volunteers from the Commerce Department were actively monitoring that the waste must only be thrown in the dustbins and ensuring that students follow proper segregation while disposing waste.

Volunteers were spread across campus in various target spots.

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 5-6

Date: 6th and 7th January 2020

Monitoring around campus

On day 5 and day 6 the volunteers were set at different target spots to monitor the waste management being followed and helped in inculcating waste proper waste management practices around the campus.

Volunteers interacted with students and spread awareness.

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 7-8

Date: 8th and 9th January 2020

Monitoring around campus

Volunteers would be divided into teams and spread across various targets spots near the campus for a waste collection drive to ensure a cleaner surrounding. Volunteers picked up the waste thrown around campus and made sure it was properly disposed.

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 9

Date: 10th January 2020

Observation and monitoring

The volunteers observed the practices being followed around campus and noticed that despite efforts, the waste was still being thrown in the improper dustbins. They not only informed the teacher-in-charge but were also on a lookout for people doing this.

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 10-11

Date: 11th and 13th January 2020

Monitoring around campus

Volunteers were spread across target spots near college gate, canteen and near the new academic building as these areas are bustling with crowd at any given point of time.

The volunteers kept a watchful eye and diligently performed their duties. They also talked to various people and explained the uses of different dustbins.

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 12-13

Date: 14th and 15th January 2020

Interactive monitoring

The volunteers under project Nidaan approached various people from the target audience to interact about the waste management problems revolving around us. They talked about the importance of segregation at source and the threats we are facing due to negligence.

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 14

Date: 16th January 2020

Tackling waste generated due to birthday celebrations

During daily monitoring, the volunteers observed that a lot of waste is generated due to birthday celebrations by students that they do not clean up afterwards. Our volunteers talked to one such group, who understood the implications of such waste and complied with waste management practices. Not only did they clean up after themselves but also vowed to follow this practice in the future.

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 15

Date: 17th January 2020

E-campaign and monitoring

In addition to daily monitoring, the Commerce Department, under Nidaan Pakhwada ran an e-campaign to create awareness and leave an impact on the minds of students. Posters were circulated on various Whatsapp groups including class groups.

Nidaan Pakhwada: Day 16-17

Date: 18th and 20th January 2020

Campus Cleaning

The volunteers under Nidaan Pakhwada vowed to unite and as a team disposed off any trash that was outside the dustbins. The volunteers also asked people to dispose off any litter they left behind.

Problems and issues faced by our volunteers:

- Despite various efforts to raise awareness, many students failed to throw the waste in dustbins.
- Segregation of waste, though followed by most, was still not thoroughly implemented by students.
- When our volunteers tried to interact with students, most seemed to not be interested in what was being told to them.
