Principal's Address

Distinguished Guests, Esteemed Chairman and Members of the Governing Body, Dear Colleagues, Friends and Beloved Students:

We assemble once again on College Day to celebrate the 94th year of the founding of the College.

The year 2016 has been a milestone for the College as it completed its first cycle of accreditation with Grade A and CGPA 3.33. I take this opportunity to congratulate the entire College community and to thank each one for the continual effort to raise the bar for ourselves. Thanks are owed in particular to the Steering Committee for NAAC of Dr. Vagisha Sharma, Dr. Meena Bhargava and Dr. Vinita Sinha. The College has constituted the mandated Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) with Dr. Anindita Roy Saha as Co-ordinator, to set the objectives to enhance performance at all levels, and report the regular monitoring and reviewing of the functioning of the College as a Higher Education Institution (HEI), on its journey of excellence. The College also puts on record its formal Quality Statement:

“Quality is a Journey. It is a State of Becoming, punctuated by its moments of Pause, Reflect, Plan, Move and Review. The Dynamism of the Process is Reflected and Captured in those moments, showing Peaks and Dips rather than a flat curve. The Quest for Quality is an Unending Process and Indraprastha College for Women is committed to it as a Higher Education Institution.

As a HEI, the College seeks quality in the areas of

- i. Curriculum Enrichment and Planning
- ii. Academic Standards
- iii. Institutional Infrastructure
- iv. Maintenance
- v. Social Engagement
- vi. Professional Interaction
- vii. Employee Engagement”

To achieve the above, the College chalks out its tasks in three to four focus areas every year for intervention, consolidates the gains of the preceding movements and interventions, plans strategies of endorsement of accountability, reviews plans and strategies and reinforces ethical standards, at regular intervals.

Henceforth, the Internal Quality Assurance Report (IQAR), will be sent to the accreditation body every year. The first report will be due in May 2017. The format of the Principal's Report 2016 has been modified to align with the presentation of the IQAR and to optimize the organizing and sourcing of information. I would like to thank the Co-ordinator IQAC Dr. Anindita Roy Saha who along with Dr. Rekha Sethi, Dr. Divya Mehta, Ms. Bhavna Malhotra and a committed editorial team of students has produced this report. These students find a place on the Principal's Honor Roll this year. The skills and competencies developed and displayed in the preparation of this report is a testimony to the assurance of internal quality that the College has affirmed.

There are several other firsts in our lives this year. For the first time, an all India Entrance Test was held for the self-financed BA (Hons) Multi-Media and Mass Communication (BMMMC) Course under the University of Delhi, in 6 cities identified by it across the country. In Delhi alone more than 3000 candidates applied for it. The College under the direction of the University conducted online admissions and fee payment in all courses for the first time, giving an excellent account of its infrastructure which supported the move. It was also successful in factoring in its need-blind policy into the online fee payment system. About 100 students were supported by the College at the time of admission itself. The College also collaborated with the University for the conduct of 7 entrance exams across courses, for the first time, which challenged, tested and trained our administrative staff, as they admirably rose to the occasion. The College for the first time, invited parents of the admitted batch of students, for an interaction following the Orientation programme in July.

During the Academic Year 2016-17, the College gave financial assistance to 491 students with partial/full waiver of fees including Hostel fee waivers. In the case of reserved category students, this assistance has been in addition to the state/other agencies support that they receive. The College also facilitated 43 students to obtain financial aid from other agencies, trusts and NGOs etc. The College over the past six years has been able to develop a financially sustainable admission policy enabling all eligible students to enroll for its courses at the time of admission. It continues to support students with Registration Fees to make their academic presentations in professionally recognized conferences abroad. The College has also supported extraordinary individual initiatives to enable young, enthusiastic women to realize their dreams and aspirations.

The College expanded the range of its activities with the opening of two new centres of learning and research - the Centre for Earth Studies (CES) with Dr. Anindita Roy Saha as Co-ordinator, with its core as the Department of Environmental Studies and the ECO club. The CES was launched along with its refereed journal of quality research, the Journal of Innovation for Inclusive Development (JIID), an initiative of Dr. Govind Singh of the Department of Environmental Studies whose efforts has also successfully culminated in a "first", in the journal getting an ISSN listing. The Journal is also accessible online. The CES's first activity, an Add-on Course on "Disaster Risk Preparedness: Knowledge for Life", in collaboration with the All India Foundation for Peace and Disaster Management was initiated by Dr. Jyoti Trehan Sharma and the College will be offering it once a year. The Course incorporated a Public Lecture on “Dealing with the Outbreak of Chikunguniya and Dengue in Delhi” by the team from National Institute of Disaster Management led by Prof. Chandan Ghosh. Under the enthusiastic expertise of Dr. Surabhika Maheshwari and Dr. Govind Singh, the CES with ECO Club also launched the Green Lab and Herbarium in the College, which encourages organic farming and urban residential farming of edible greens, through hands-on experience.

The Centre for Interdisciplinary Studies (CIDS) with Dr. Rashmi Pant as Co-ordinator has been envisaged as a focal point to bring together the myriad ways in which academic disciplines are co-dependent for holistic comprehension of a given context. It seeks to also become a space for the expansion into research and development of every discipline offered by the College, which may seek to go beyond its curriculum and syllabus. The CIDS was thus launched with the first in the series of day-long conferences on Delhi, with eminent scholars and experts speaking on the many aspects of the city so dear and familiar to us. The CIDS's abiding significance lies in it becoming a forum for presentation of ongoing research by students from across universities. CIDS also brings together an inter-disciplinary outreach project, “Hum Sab”, launched by the College with the migrant construction labor community on its campus and will continue for the period the labour settlement remains. Students and teachers across several departments of the College are volunteer participants in “Hum Sab”. Reports will be prepared and presented on the activities and findings at regular intervals at the CIDS gatherings. This sensitive task with its formidable logistics is co-ordinated by Ms. Dolly Jain and student Ms. Asmita. It is piloted by the Principal of the College.

The Translation and Translation Studies Centre (TTSC) in addition to its regular activities, also organized a memorial talk on the departed activist-writer, Mahasweta Devi. Its student journal, CODE carried translations by students of children's literature from 14 Indian languages and oral narratives and published them with the parallel original texts and graphics. The TTSC offered the Add-on course on Editing and Publishing in collaboration with Vani Prakashan for the first time, attracting students from across disciplines, and was co-ordinated by Dr. Harshbala Sharma and Ms. Bhavna Malhotra. These remarkable and significant activities in language by students and their advisors Dr. Vinita Sinha, Dr. Rekha Sethi and Dr. Amita Pandey, prompted the Principal Dr. Babli Moitra Saraf, to present the TTSC of the College as a unique case study from South Asia at the 5th Asia-Pacific Forum on Translation and Intercultural Studies at the University of Hawai'i at Manoa, to demonstrate how young people could be motivated and engaged to not only counter language loss, but develop employable skills. Our talented student Dhvani Mahajan is currently working with the Principal as the illustrator for her translation of English Nursery Rhymes into Hindi for publication.

The Museum and Archives Learning Resource Centre (MALRC), was sourced and cited as a database, by Sahapedia, which is a prestigious and ambitious archival project, working on heritage and restoration. The MALRC has also been part of the Delhi Heritage walks and discussions. The book on IP College co-authored by Co-ordinator Dr. Meena Bhargava became the subject of a book discussion on the programme of The Heritage Walk in Lodi gardens. We are gratified to report that the four research and learning centres of the College are developing as envisaged, as spaces for the prescribed curriculum to expand and introduce innovative ways of learning and teaching, along with the promotion of research among students. The centres have generated a lot of interest and curiosity at both the local and international levels.

A major thrust was given to research activities in the College in 2016. The College has internally allotted Rs. 10 lakhs to research activities and projects by students and teachers, out of which Rs. 2 lakhs has been earmarked for the Undergraduate Research Grant. Six projects were awarded this year under the Centenary Decade Undergraduate Research Grant, to individual students and student teams across several disciplines to work for two semesters on projects they have defined. The first project awarded titled, “Being a Mental Health Professional: A Psychological Inquiry” was successfully submitted by the 3-member student team from the Department of Psychology. The two student projects awarded to the Women's Development Cell, “Women and Ageing” and “A Profile of Non-Collegiate Women in Education” were also completed and their reports submitted.

In April 2016 the College held its day-long Annual Academic Review, as has become the practice, at an academic congress of the Staff Council with all teachers, to review and set the academic agenda and pedagogical practices for the session to move towards enhancing internal quality. The two specific academic goals of imparting English Language and Communication classes and Basic I.T. Skills were continued. Additionally, for high achievers, the workshops on methodology and research writing skills continued at the College and departmental levels. These classes have been offered free of cost to all students who volunteered or were identified for them. We report the success of these practices and plan to continue with them to empower our students with the basic skills to find their place in society and in the world of employment. Students of Computer Science completed the first online tutorial course in collaboration with IIT Mumbai. Two skill enhancement Add-on courses are running in the College in collaboration with National Skills Development Corporation, the BFSI and the ICT. The Career Guidance and Placement Cell (CGPC) of the College under Co-ordinator Ms. Valsala Kuriakose has revamped the CGPC and embarked on an aggressive program to reach out to trainers and recruiters to expand the range of skills and opportunities for our students to equip them for the world of employment.

The Department of Computer Science led the move to develop in-house E-governance tools. A software was developed for the College Time Table, the electronic Student Feedback System was streamlined and a Mobile App was developed, in collaboration with I-MAKE, a Govt. of India initiative. The Department also steered the moves towards a less cash system in the College, acting as resource persons and trainers, in the wake of demonetization. Students of the department have volunteered in various enabling activities for their peers involving the use of the knowledge of computers.

The Department of Political Science celebrated its Golden Jubilee with a 3-day National Conference sponsored by the UGC on “Women, State and Power: Reflections on Democracy”. Three Golden Jubilee Lectures have also been held and a Film Festival organized. The Department also organized several tertiary activities to mark the occasion. The Department of Philosophy also held a UGC sponsored National Conference on “Consciousness”. The BA Programme Department, under its Coordinator Dr. Shagufta, has been significantly reconceptualized to provide the much needed space for growth and development of students admitted in its various disciplines. The Programme has introduced a wide range of motivational activities as innovative practices which feed into academics and pedagogy. Students have been enthused to participate in workshops, training programmes, research activities and various competitions organized by the Department. Its first-time film festival CINELOGIC, focused on films dealing with psychological disorders. A dedicated space has been created for the BA Programme departmental activities and meetings, and the College looks forward to a very creative and productive output from its most numerous student group. The Department of Sanskrit has shown a marked increase in students opting for the subject and the special efforts of the College to promote Indian languages is showing results.

Innovative pedagogical practices were introduced across departments in the College. Multi-media modes of teaching-learning were formalized on a schedule of slotted programmes, using the massive resource of the Community Radio centre in the College, co-ordinated by Dr. Manasvini Yogi and Mr. Gagan Gera. The History Society organized “Lucknow in Letters: Endeavors, Achievements and Tragedies”, a multi –media stage production by Dr. Saman Habib of CSIR Lucknow and Mr. Sanjay Mattoo of Indraprastha College, which serves as a pedagogical paradigm. The Department of Mathematics has introduced the weekly seminar programme for students and faculty. Peer teaching is already in practice in departments and a vigorous academic culture of quality student presentations has become the norm in academic societies of all the departments of the College.

Three Faculty Development Programmes have already been held under the IQAC both within specific disciplines as well as for resource development. The Department of Mathematics collaborated in the programme on LATEX, and the IQAC organized the FDP on Augmenting Research using ICT. At the level of the Administration, ten internal workshops have been held to orient staff towards the conduct of examination, the admission process, online fee payment, noting and drafting, IT skills, data entry, vigilance awareness and cashless transactions. Colleagues were also encouraged to participate in the various staff training programmes organized by the University and other academic institutions.

The recent visit of the Nehru-Fulbright International Education Administrator's cohort has resulted in negotiations with some international universities and the College looks forward to the development of concrete links with those.

Under infrastructure for IQA, the College created a dedicated space for the IQAC with all equipment and facilities. The Library was extended to accommodate the expanded Property Counter, an additional reading hall and seminar room. In the I.P. The Kalavati Gupta Hostel built in 1952, is also being redesigned, upgraded and expanded into a modern and comfortable space for students.

In addition to hosting classes in computer skills for the VH students, it serves as a counselling centre, a meeting point and a place of recreation amidst secure and sylvan surroundings. It is located adjacent to the Medical Room Facility and the College Counselling Centre, both of which have barrier-free access. Library services and learning resources have already been shifted there and have become operational. The Unit has been the node for all online admission processes and related financial transactions for PH students. Notices are available in Braille. In a “first”, a Braille Menu was created by and for, VH members. Thanks are due to the collective efforts of the entire team who have worked in the Equal Opportunity Cell and Enabling Unit. The EOC organized an Audio tour of the College Museum and Archives for VH students, conducted by Ms. Renu Nawani. The special efforts of the Co-ordinator EOC Dr. Shubhra Seth, has resulted in one empowered VH student opting for electronic assistance to write her exam instead of taking recourse to human assistance.
