Being a North-East Indian in Overseas

The speaker presented a PowerPoint presentation on her journey towards founding UMA and her professional endeavours. She talked about the importance of empowering women and effective communication in business. The webinar was a success with an interactive Question and Answer round towards the end of the session, as the students felt encouraged after hearing the experiences and narratives of Ms. Rita Kakati Shah.

In the next event of The North East Society collaborated with Politicus the academic society of Department of Political Science, Indraprastha College for Women conducted an 'Alumnae Interaction Meet 2022' on 6th April, 2022. The panelists of the Alumnae Interaction Meet include Hoihnu Hauzel, journalist and author of The Essential Northeast Cookbook, and an alumna from of the 1995 batch from the Department of Political Science and Ms. Moomal Rajpurohit, IPS Officer and an alumna of the batch of 2015 from the Department of Political Science. The webinar was a success with enthusiastic interaction among students and alumna panelist, Hoihnu Hauzel. Unfortunately, Ms. Moomal Rajpurohit, could not join the session owing to an urgent work that required her attention.

Hoihnu Hauzel shared her experiences from her college days and talked about managing stress and balancing academics and co-curricular activities. She also shared her journey of her first published book and the various job opportunities for a person graduating with Political Science as a major.

Study Abroad Session with Mr. Faiz Ahmad

The Society on the 28th of April, 2022 conducted its first offline event since the reopening of the institution after the COVID-19 pandemic. The 'Annual Day 2022' of the North East Society gathered participants from different states of the North East. The members of the Society presented cultural performances ranging from Assamese songs to Meitei Jagoi (Manipuri dance) to Nepali songs to a fusion of Arunchali and Kabui-Naga dance. The event was a grand success with the Society members coming together in their traditional attire to present a cultural show representing the diversity. The endeavours of the Society exceeds not only in academics activities but also in creating an impact through organising cultural events promising unity in diversity.

Annual Day 2022

Members of the Society presented songs in Assamese, Nepali, and Manipuri. The members also performed Meitei Jagoi (dance), and a fusion of Arunchali and Kabui-Naga dance, which indeed was a door to the show of different cultures and ethnic performances with the sense of unity, integrity and love throughout. It left a big impression on everyone present there.

The President of Society, Nandini Devi and General Secretary, Ningthoukhongjam Girija also inspired everyone by sharing their journey in the college and how it shaped them, ensuingly coming up with guidance for all the juniors to never fear stepping out and striving for what they want. They also encourage them to be active and participative in activities and programs to create great memories whilst in college. After the speeches, the juniors performed a farewell song for the graduating seniors which was filled with love and nostalgia. Indeed, the society never failed to come to the climax of the show where all the different states from the Northeast came together with their cultural attire and performed a magnificent cultural show. The program ended with a short note of gratitude to everyone present by the Society's advisor.
